Exhibit C to the Declaration of Brian DeLay

MUSEUM.

JOSEPH STEWARD, respectfully informs the public that he still continues to make additions to his collection in the State House in Hartford. Among which are several entertaining paintings. One large historic painting containing sources figures.

Among the natural curiofities is the fkin of a large fnake, from South America, 16 feet in length.

A curious favage Prieft's cloak, wrought with

An sir-gun, fhot with great force by air inacad of powder.

The attention of gentlemen failing to foreign parts, is requested, to collect curiofties, and every attention of this kind will be gratefully received and foitably rewarded.

Portroit Painting performed by faid Steward as usual, at the Museum, and every attention paid to tender it agrecable.

Hartford, April 11th, 1803.

94